Air Force Sets Aside Controversial Order to Establish Space Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force today put on ice its plans to establish a disputed space projects agency until Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy returns from Europe.

Defense officials said McElroy, who is attending the NATO meeting in Paris next week, probably would straighten out a dispute over the agency which has flared between Pentagon brass and the Air Force.

Air Force Secretary James H. Douglas Friday set aside the order that started the jurisdictional battle over space. He said the order was issued "prematurely" last Tuesday as the "result of a misunderstanding" between Air Force officers and defense officials.

Douglas said he had assured the Defense Department that no action would be taken to establish the contemplated "Directorate of Aeronautics" until it could be coordinated with the specific plans for a new space agency in the Department of Defense.

Douglas acted shortly after William M. Holaday, Defense Department missiles chief, told the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee that the Air Force may have been trying to "grab the limelight and establish a position" before the Defense Department set up an overall space agency.

Holaday said he had refused to approve an Air Force press release on establishment of the office. Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles revealed Thursday that he had asked the Air Force to hold up establishment of the office until the department set up its own agency for coordinating space research of all the armed forces.

But he said the Air Force went ahead anyway and set up the office in an order signed by Lt. Gen. Donald L. Pratt, deputy Air Force chief of staff for development.

In suspending the order, Douglas made it plain that the Air Force office would be re-established once the Defense Department plans have been put into effect. He said the purpose of the new office would be to serve as "an Air Force contact" with the contemplated Defense Department Agency.

Before Douglas revoked the order, Air Force officials labeled the uproar over creation of the office a "tempest in a teapot."

Johnson Urges High Level Drive In Rocket Race

Army Research Chief Says Russia Top Military Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said today that if America is going to catch Russia in the crucial rocket race the government's top missile brass must start working hard.

The Texas Democrat demanded "the same drive and energy at high levels that we have at the working levels" to help make up the "serious" lag in U. S. missile and satellite programs.

Johnson made the statements to reports in advance of his Senate Preparedness Subcommittee's second day of current hearings into the nation's space weapons programs.

The government, meanwhile, went ahead with plans to fling more money and manpower into development of the Atlas Intercontinental Ballistic Missile (ICBM).

The much-demonstrated speedup came as Lt. Gen. James Gavin, Army chief of Research and Development, disclosed that he and a "sizeable portion" of Army officers believe Russia has replaced the United States as the world's foremost military power.

The subcommittee called as a witness today the Army's Dr. Wernher von Braun, former German rocket expert now applying his talents in behalf of this country. Von Braun has become the center of a political controversy over whether Democrats or Republicans are to blame for falling behind in the missile race.

Also slated to testify were Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, head of the Army's Huntsville, Ala., missile center, and Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr.

Johnson said his group's missile investigation left no doubt "we are behind and it is serious." But he said "we can catch up if we get at the job."

U. S. government and military officials have conceded that the Soviets may be ahead in certain military fields, especially rockets, but Gavin is the first to assert flatly they have taken an overall lead.

Four Killed in Area Accidents

Highway accidents took at least four lives in southern Illinois Friday night.

Mrs. Geraldine Jones, 42, wife of Benton Attorney Rea Jones, drowned near Mt. Vernon when her car skidded on a country road and plunged into an ice covered creek.

A third car, driven by August Zoutte, 56, Springfield, hit Presswood and dragged him more than 100 feet.

Ona E. Pilson, 49, Mt. Vernon, was fatally injured when her car left the road after a tire blew out near Mt. Vernon on U. S. 460.

Wilford Guy, 37, Carterville, was killed when his car left Route 37 at the north edge of Marion and ran into a cemetery before hitting a tree.

Sheriff Warns Hunters

Against Shooting in Areas Near Buildings

Sheriff William T. Barrett today warned hunters not to shoot in areas near buildings as there was too much danger of stray shot hitting something or somebody.

In asking hunters to get out in the country and away from buildings, he pointed to the possibility of people getting wounded and stated that in the interest of public safety they should stay away from areas where people lived.

Sheriff Barrett said he had received complaints of hunters shooting near town.

Jury Deliberates Grand Larceny Case Against Beck

SEATTLE (AP)—A King County Superior Court jury of seven men and five women resumes deliberating the grand larceny case against Teamsters President Dave Beck today.

The jury deliberated for 6 hours and 16 minutes Friday night before retiring without reaching a verdict.

Beck, 63, is accused of putting into his own bank account $1,900 obtained from the sale of a Cadillac owned by the Western Conference of Teamsters.

The Teamsters boss admitted he authorized the sale of the car and that the money was placed in his private account. However, the defense contended the money was used by the union for contributing to political candidates.

B47 Crashes in Duluth; 3 Dead

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—A huge B47 jet bomber circled a fighter landing strip in an apparent emergency maneuver and then crashed and killed its three occupants on Duluth city limits.

The six-jet-engine plane, based at Lincoln, Neb., made several passes at the Duluth Air Force field, which was constructed to handle small jet fighters.

It skidded low over downtown Duluth Friday, made a final circle and crashed into a patch of willow trees situated on Duluth city limits, one mile northeast of the field.

Its three occupants were identified as Maj. William F. Gardner, 37, Fresno, Calif., aircraft commander; Capt. William A. Baldwin, 37, St. Louis, the pilot; and Capt. Byron H. Blackmore, 35, Grand Forks, N. D., the navigator. All made their homes in Lincoln, their home base. Gardner was survived by a wife and four children, Baldwin by a wife and two children, and Blackmore by a wife and four children.

Baldwin was in radio contact with the Duluth base until the moment of the crash. Duluth officials reported his last words were: "No, nuts — we're not going to make it."

President Believes Parley Will Meet Russian Challenge

PARIS (AP)—President Eisenhower stepped briskly off his plane today for the NATO summit conference and said he believed the Atlantic pact nations would meet the challenge of Russia "effectively" and "in unity."

The President's plane landed at Orly Field at 2:53 p. m. (7:53 a. m. c.s.t.) and he came down the plane's gangplank at 3 p. m., right on schedule.

The President stood at attention while the United States and the French national anthems were played and then inspected the French guard of honor that met his plane.

French Premier Felix Gaillard greeted Eisenhower with a formal welcoming address.

The President then delivered a formal statement in a voice that was firm and clear.

Outlines NATO Purpose

The President said he believed the 15-member NATO nations were meeting in Paris to analyze the challenge of Russia and to meet it effectively.

"It is for us, together, to determine whether men will continue to live in freedom and in dignity or whether they are to become mere vassals of an all-powerful state," Eisenhower said.

"We all know that fear alone has neither the power nor the nobility to fulfill the ultimate destiny of the Atlantic community," he said.

In referring to the NATO meeting, he said:

"We shall be striving not only to strengthen the NATO shield but we shall also address ourselves to other aspects of the alliance."

As a precaution against a strong cold wind, the President kept his hat on while the two national anthems were played.

Eisenhower is the first American president to visit Paris since Woodrow Wilson came for the Versailles Peace Treaty in 1919.

It is Eisenhower's second trip to Europe since he became president in 1952. He flew to Geneva, Switzerland, in 1955 for the abortive Big Four "summit" conference.

Western diplomats agree NATO is faced with the gravest crisis in the eight-year-history of the anti-Communist alliance.

The Columbine made a brief stopover at Loring Air Force Base in Maine for refueling before taking off for the nearly 4,000 mile transatlantic flight. Storms which lashed the North Atlantic this week have abated and good flying conditions were reported.

A "safety" armada of American and British warships patrolled the waters along the route of the presidential plane, prepared to race to the assistance in the event of a ditching.

The exact route of the Columbine III was secret.

Israeli Foreign Secretary Warns Against Attempt to Slice Territory

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Foreign Secretary Golda Meir today said any attempt to slice off territory claimed by Israel to appease the Arabs would result in more trouble for the Middle East.

Mrs. Meir, in an interview with United Press, said Israel had not been notified of any plan by the major powers to push the 1947 partition agreement to ease tension between Israel and its Arab neighbors.

Reports circulated here earlier this week that such a plan would be discussed at the NATO Summit Conference in Paris next week.

"Any idea of slicing off Israel's territory is an illusion which harbors not peace but greater tension and will defeat the very purpose these people have in mind," Mrs. Meir said.

It was her first interview since she was injured in a bombing of the Israeli Knesset (Parliament) last month.

"It is fantastic that anybody should think history can be turned back and speak as though nothing had happened between 1947 and 1957," she said.

"It is especially peculiar on the part of people who refused to implement resolutions in 1947 to speak of them in 1957."

"There can be no doubt in anybody's mind of Israel's desire for peace and for negotiations for settlement of any mid-Eastern problems. But such negotiations must take place with Israel as it is."

Mrs. Meir was asked whether there were any Israeli objections to Russia supplying Syria or other countries with economic aid.

"I am in favor of constructive efforts in any country by anybody that respects the independence of that country," she said. "We would like to see Russia as well as other powers work towards peace in the Middle East."

Trend to Larger, Fewer Farms

By Warren Strother
United Press Staff Correspondent
The trend to fewer and larger farms-aside from the gradual loss of farmland to highways continued sharply in Illinois in 1957.

Preliminary figures from the 1957 Illinois farm census show the 177,367 farms in the state in 1956 dropped to 173,750 this year, a loss of more than 3,600 farm units. Illinois land devoted to agriculture also was sharply reduced, by almost 100,000 acres.

The 1957 farm census figures are now being compiled by the State-Federal Crop Reporting Service at Springfield and will be published in full next month. They are summarized from statistics compiled by township assessors when farm checks are made each spring for assessment of personal property.

When the census first started back in 1938 the number of farms in Illinois totaled about 220,000, with a total of 32 million acres in farmland.

There are about 35,800,000 acres of land in Illinois and the part of it devoted to farming is steadily decreasing. This year it fell to 30,931,463 acres.

The amount of land devoted to cities, highways, parks, airports and other non-farm uses continues to increase.

The crop service data for 1957, reflecting 1956 crops, indicated about 9,164,000 acres, or 28 per cent, of the state's farmland was in corn. This compared with 30 per cent last year.

Soybean acreage increased in 1957 from 4,295,000 acres the year before to 4,638,000 acres. The figure this year represented 15 per cent of all farmland, compared with only 10 per cent of the land in soybeans in 1947.

Soybean acreage 10 years ago totaled 3,305,000 acres.

The proportion of land devoted to various other crops has remained fairly stable over the past decade.

Other land use indicated by the 1957 census showed 4,858,000 acres in small grains; 1,416,000 acres in alfalfa hay and 1,104,000 acres in other hay; and 305,000 acres in "other crops."

Pastureland totaled 2,010,000 acres and "other land" accounted for the remaining 7,898,000 acres.

The census begins every April and the law requires farmers to provide the information requested.

Most important use of the census is a doublecheck on the statistics compiled periodically by the crop reporting service on which crop estimates are based.

In view of the large amount of corn available now at low price, cattle feeders might consider feeding more corn than usual to their wintering calves this winter, particularly if they are to be full-fed on grain next summer.

Deadline Dec. 31 For Completing Soil Conservation Work

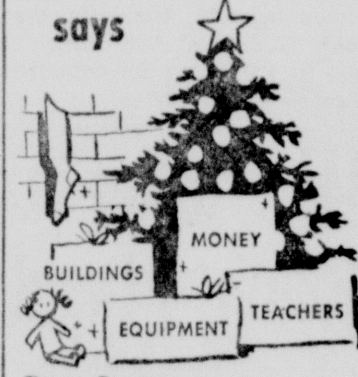

The final date for completing soil conservation practices approved during the past year under the AC program is December 31, 1957, according to a warning issued today by Edgar V. Thompson, chairman of the local ASC office.

Not only must the work be carried out by December 31, 1957, but a proper report must be filed by Jan. 10, 1958, in order for farmers to receive the cost-sharing assistance that has been set up for their farms.

Any farmer who finds that he cannot meet the Dec. 31 deadline should call at the office without delay. On some practices a limited extension of time may be granted if the work is substantially completed. On others it may be advisable to file a new request under the 1958 program. "We will be glad to discuss all possibilities," said Mr. Thompson, "if the farmers involved will come in to see us. Any work started after the first of the year will not be eligible, unless a 1958 request is on file."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

The amount of money that a farmer can make out of growing Christmas trees as an extra farming enterprise depends much on a good job of harvesting and marketing the trees.

Today's discussion will be concerned with some of the harvesting and marketing suggestions from John Hosner, Southern Illinois University forester, which are included in greater detail in a forthcoming illustrated publication on the subject of growing Christmas trees.

First, let's look at the harvesting problem. If there is a demand for three- or four-foot trees, harvesting may begin as early as four years after planting. However, the biggest demand usually exists for trees five to seven feet tall. These require at least six years of growth.

Farmers who have a small plantation usually can do best by cutting selectively each year and replacing the cut trees with new seedlings the same season. In this way farmers may keep a continuous supply in production on the same land, although it rules out using planting machines as labor saving devices.

Another alternative is to wait until most of the trees are of salable size, then clearing the stand all at once, and replanting by machinery the same season. Of course, there will be some trees that will be unsuited for marketing, but the saving in labor may more than offset the waste, especially if the farmer is growing large lots of Christmas trees. In other situations the harvest may be spread over two or three years to get more selective cutting, then cleaning the stand the final year and replanting the whole field at once.

Regardless of the harvesting procedure, the farmer needs to make a preliminary count of the number and size of salable trees he has before beginning to cut them for the market. The amount and kind available will largely determine the type of buyer he will need to contact in selling his crop. Obtaining advance markets is important if the farmer is to avoid financial losses. If he expects to sell to wholesalers or retailers such contacts ought to be made six to 12 months before harvesting time for mutual convenience. To cut the trees and then start looking for a place to sell them is an invitation to having valuable trees left on hand for a big post-Christmas bonfire.

Although approximately 2,000,000 Christmas trees are sold in Illinois each year, consumers have depended mostly on evergreen trees from other regions in the past. As yet they are not generally aware of the advantages of locally grown trees for appearance and holding of the needles. Also, because Christmas tree growing is a new enterprise in the area, few farmers are aware of the possibilities for added farm income, and the production has not been enough to create a strong demand for the home-grown product. Hence, a market will need to be developed.

A farmer may use one or all of three methods of marketing. If the number available is rather large he may prefer to sell either to wholesalers or to retailers. Both will expect to place a 100 percent markup on the price of the trees to offset possible losses from left-over trees. Therefore, if the consumer is to pay about $3.00 for the tree, the farmer can expect 75 cents per tree from the wholesaler, or nearly $1.50 from the retailer. If the farmer has only a few hundred trees to sell annually, he may sell directly to the consumer at a retail price. The person may come to the farm and pick out the tree he wants before it is cut, or the farmer may deliver to the home, or sell from a location beside a well-traveled highway.

Most wholesalers are not interested in buying in lots of less than 1,000 trees which is about the yield of one-half acre in a well-cared-for Christmas tree plantation. A farmer with five acres of land devoted to Christmas tree production on an eight year rotation would be able to market through a wholesaler. Advantages are less labor and less risk of financial loss. Selling to a retailer will eliminate the wholesaler's profit, meaning a larger return to the grower, but there are more sales problems, more contacts to make, and more labor.

A Bit Mixed Up

DETROIT (AP)—Police spotted Roger Young, 22, breaking into a service station, gave chase when he tried to escape, and fired three shots as he disappeared. They watched a car parked near the gas station and arrested him when he appeared at the car 30 minutes later. A search of his pockets revealed a letter from the Detroit Police Department notifying him to take his written examination to become a policeman.

Steffey Says New Benson Plan Would Help

CHICAGO (UP)—Otto Steffey, president of the Illinois Agricultural Assn., said today Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson's latest plan would help solve the nation's farm problems.

"It's not the answer, but a step in the right direction," Steffey said.

Benson has proposed that entire farms be put in a special soil bank in "an effort to see if we can buy more reduction in crops for each dollar spent."

Illinois was chosen as one of the four states where the plan will be tested.

Steffey Henderson County farmer who heads the 190,000-member Farm Bureau organization in Illinois, said the idea appears to him to be an "experiment that may provide a substitute for the present soil bank system."

"The administrative costs probably would be less than the soil bank we got," he said, "but it has to be tested first to find out."

Depends on Payments

Under Benson's proposal, farmers would inform the government of how much they would require in compensation for taking an entire farm out of production of crops and turning it to grass and trees. The government would decide whether to accept the farmers' offer.

"I think it will depend on the payments," Steffey said, "to determine how much participation there would be in such a plan."

"There is no question," he said, "that the plan would take out the lower end . . . the less productive farms."

He said the proposal would be attractive to a man on poor land who can't raise corn or wheat. "If he could get $12 or $15 an acre," Steffey said, "he could get a job elsewhere and raise his standard of living."

Would Cut Acreage

Steffey said that "there is a lot of marginal land in Illinois that should not be in production and would be put to better use if turned back to timber."

For the present, Steffey said, "the plan would help cut crop acreage in the state but would not make any big hole in production."

He said he anticipates that the present form of the soil bank would continue for other farms in Illinois.

The test run of the new plan in Illinois, Maine, Nebraska and Tennessee will indicate whether it can substitute for existing soil bank procedures, he said.

Steffey said he saw nothing wrong in principle with Benson's new plan. It has been attacked by at least two congressmen as "crazy" and as a "lazy man's program."

Steffey said he sees nothing reprehensible "if the government wants to pay for taking some in efficient land out of grain production and planting it to trees."

Allen Buchanan of HTHS Second In Pioneer Corn Growing Contest

Allen Buchanan, student in the Harrisburg Township high school, made the second highest corn yield in this section of the state in the Pioneer Hi-Yield corn growing contest. All vocational agriculture students are eligible to enter this contest and free seed corn of two Pioneer hybrid varieties is furnished for the corn growing projects of all students who enter.

Allen made his highest yield of 139.2 bushels per acre with Pioneer 302 which was the second highest yield in FFA section 25 which includes Williamson, Saline, White, Galatin, Hardin, Pope Johnson and Massac counties. There were 10 high schools and 135 boys entered in the contest this year for section 25.

At the time the corn weights were taken, a moisture test was also made so that this fine yield was figured on the basis of No. 2 corn with 15 percent moisture content. The weighed yield test was made under the supervision of Mr. E. J. Thompson, the agriculture teacher at the Harrisburg high school. Allen was given a cash award of $15 for making the second highest yield in his FFA section.

Two hundred eighty-one high schools and 2,846 boys in Illinois were entered in the contest this year and some very fine corn yields were obtained in spite of the adverse weather conditions.

Here is Allen's own project story of how he produced his fine yield of corn:

"My corn project consisted of two acres of ground located south of Harrisburg. The ground is located in what is termed as second bottomland.

I broke my ground on April 15 and then disced it once. The first of May I disced it, but rain kept me from planting. I disced it again the last of May but a small shower kept me from planting it until the first of June. I fertilized my corn ground last fall by putting ten loads of manure on it. When I planted the corn I put one hundred pounds of 12-12-12 fertilizer per acre. During July, I side-dressed it by putting one hundred pounds of nitrogen per acre.

I cultivated my corn three times. Once in June and twice in July. I am a member and treasurer of the Harrisburg FFA Chapter. I have won five other seconds on my projects this year."

Rev. W. L. Cummins Narrates The Christmas Story For WSCS

The Woman's Society for Christian Service met in the sanctuary of the First Methodist church for its Christmas program Wednesday afternoon, with the Rev. W. L. Cummins as the featured speaker. Mrs. L. B. Kimmel, president, set aside all business for this meeting and the program opened with an organ and piano duet of the "Hallelujah" chorus, played by Mrs. Robert Norman at the organ and Mrs. Harold Parker at the piano. Mrs. Larry Barnhill and Mrs. F. M. Sullivan sang "While Shepherds Watched Their Flock By Night."

The Rev. W. L. Cummins narrated the Christmas story according to the gospel of St. Luke and followed with the challenging thought, "Who Are The Wise Men Today?"

Mrs. Barnhill and Mrs. Sullivan sang "O Holy Night," followed by the organ-piano duet, "Jesu Bambino."

Mrs. L. B. Kimmel thanked the women of the organization for their cooperation in making the recent bazaar a success and then adjourned the meeting to the Wesley center where refreshments were served by the executive committee from a most attractively decorated table.

During the fellowship hour, gifts were presented to Rev. and Mrs. Cummins, Miss Katherine Mode, Mrs. William Stain and Rodney Mattingly.

Burley and Mrs. Harry Hess.

Tax Return Lists Husband 'Peasant', Wife as 'Slave'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service said today it received a tax return from a midwestern farmer and his wife in which he listed his occupation as "peasant" and his wife's as "slave."

and was designed of lace scalloped at the hemline with an accordion pleated tulle flounce attached. Iridescent sequins trimmed the neckline and the hemline of the gown. The bride's veil of illusion was secured to a tiara of pearls and iridescent sequins on lace and net. Her bouquet was round and centered with a white orchid surrounded with stephanotis and smilax arranged with french tulle and occult tubing.

Mrs. Harry (Barbara) Border, close friend of the bride, was her attendant and wore a pale blue waltz length dress under a white chantilly lace overdress and a short jacket. Her headband of pale blue satin was matched with a short face veil. Her flowers were chrysanthemums and smilax arranged with french tulle and heavenly blue occult velvet tubing.

Larry L. Reed, close friend of the bridegroom, acted as his best man.

Harry Border served as usher for the wedding.

The bride's mother wore a suit of aqua colored knit material complemented with black and white accessories. Her flowers were white butterfly roses.

The mother of the bridegroom could not leave her work in Lincoln to attend and his sister, Mrs. Paul Vinyard, Golconda, was present. She wore a knitted suit of rose color and a corsage of white butterfly roses.

Mrs. Dale Sullivan played Schubert's "Serenade," "Romance," "When Thou Art Near" and "The Lord's Prayer" on the organ and the wedding marches.

There was a reception in the home of the bride's parents at 16 South Skaggs street, Harrisburg, immediately following the wedding, and the tiered white wedding cake held the place of honor at the bride's table. The cake was decorated with sugar roses and doves and supported a miniature bride and groom. The table was covered with a white lace cloth and the flowers were white chrysanthemums and snowdrift pompons combined with blue beauty-berries and smilax. Mrs. Capitola Melton, great aunt of the bride, served punch from the crystal punchbowl and Mrs. Border served the cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence left immediately for their home in Jacksonville, Fla., where they will remain until Mr. Lawrence is discharged from the U. S. Navy next August.

The bride was formerly a student at SIU, Carbondale.

Too Many Cooks For Friday, the 13th

MARION, Ill. (UP)—Too many cooks and Friday, the 13th, don't mix.

Marion firemen were called Friday to the home of the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Hogue. Mrs. Hogue had started to bake cupcakes in a gas stove and black smoke poured out.

The gas company was called in.

The gas man found that the smoke was from a celluloid powder tray. Seems that a 5-year-old girl at the house was pretending to bake some cookies Thursday night and forgot to remove the "pan."

Soviets Force Marathon Session by UN

Possibility of Debate on Hungary May Extend Meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP)—The Soviet Union and its Communist cohorts forced the United Nations into marathon session on "peaceful coexistence" today in an apparent effort to offset the opening of the NATO conference in Paris.

The general assembly's main political committee stayed in session until 2:16 a. m. e. s. t. and when it adjourned for eight hours there still were 12 speakers left on the list.

Every one of the Communist bloc delegations gave long speeches, prompting one Western delegate to call it "a sort of a filibuster."

The United Nations was racing toward adjournment tonight but another matter that threatened to extend the session was the possibility of renewed debate on Communist Hungary.

Uruguay's Enrique Rodriguez Fabregat, a member of the five-nation special commission that turned in a scathing indictment of Russia's suppression of the 1956 Hungarian revolt, sought U. N. action to save revolutionary Gen. Pal Maleter and two other Freedom Fighters from death.

Maleter, popular hero of the revolt; Gen. Istvan Kovacs, and Sandor Kopacai, former Budapest police chief, were said in reports heard here to be on trial for their lives now.

Fabregat asked the help of the 20-nation Latin-American group and sought the aid of the United States in deciding the best course to help the Hungarian heroes.

The assembly's main political committee was dealing with its last item on the agenda—Russia's perennial demand for a "peaceful co-existence" declaration by all the world's countries.

The women were not harmed.

Strike Settled At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (UP)—The week-old Meatcutters strike in St. Louis was settled about 2:30 a. m. today and 6,000 workers at seven chain stores were scheduled to return to their jobs immediately.

However, there was some doubt whether all food markets affected would be open this morning, pending resumption of regular delivery services.

Terms of the agreement were not disclosed and final settlement hinged on approval of members of Meatcutters Local 88 at a meeting at 1 p. m. Sunday in St. Louis House.

Ed Darnell and Wife Prize Winners on Television Program

Mrs. Kenneth Partain, a classmate of Mrs. Darnell when she was in high school, recognized them and saw them receive an electric organ and a Hi-Fi phonograph.

Three California Schools Quit Pacific Loop

LOS ANGELES (UP)—California UCLA and Southern California to day had crossed the bridge that separated them from the Pacific Coast Conference and stood waiting for other schools to follow their lead.

It did not take Stanford long to indicate it was seriously considering similar action.

Although acting independently regents of the University of California, which includes both the Berkeley and UCLA campuses, and trustees of the University of Southern California almost simultaneously announced withdrawal from the conference Friday.

In the case of California and UCLA the withdrawal is effective July 1, 1959, the date when UCLA goes off probation for illegal aid to athletes. Southern California announced its withdrawal would take place "on or after" July 1, 1958, at the discretion of its athletic officials.

Others Will Follow

That the three schools expected at least one or more others to follow their lead was indicated by the statement of UCLA Chancellor Raymond B. Allen when he said he thought it inconceivable that Stanford would not meet the other California schools in athletics.

A few hours after the three announced their withdrawal, President J. E. Wallace Sterling of Stanford hinted his school might follow the lead of the other California schools after it lives up to its commitments running through 1960 "unless they are cancelled by mutual agreement."

Like the defecting three schools, Stanford found fault with the conference's liberalized aid program which placed athletes in a preferred position and Sterling said he saluted California for its principles on academic requirements.

Under conference regulations a school that schedules any institution which withdraws is subject to expulsion. It was an open secret that Washington was sympathetic to the three departing schools because the Huskies also were penalized by the conference.

Captain Cook discovered Botany Bay in 1770, naming it that because of the many kinds of plants growing on the shores.

Matter of FACT

In the middle of the ancient city of Rome, there was a sacrarium of Mars, the legendary god of battle, in which his sacred spears were kept. When a war broke out it was the duty of the consul to shake these spears and cry: "Mars, wake up!" If the spears moved by themselves, it was considered a bad omen.

'Living with Christian Joy'

Philippians 4
GOLDEN TEXT: "My God shall supply all your needs according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus." Philippians 4:19)

INTRODUCTION: Stand on the street corner in any large city and study the faces of the people as they pass. You will find all kinds of expressions. Some folks are weary, some are emotionally distressed. Some are filled with fear. Some are happy. Others have love and joy written all over their faces.

Your face reflects your inner feelings. Look at yourself in the mirror. What do you see? What has happened to you? Whatever it is, it is written upon your face.

This epistle of Philippians, which Paul wrote to the Christians at Philippi, has been called:
"Paul's Joy in Christ." It is filled with joy. One can imagine seeing joy and peace written up on the countenance of Paul. Remember he wrote his letter from a prison. Paul did not depend on external comforts for internal peace and joy. He was a Christian.

I JOY COMES WITH COOPER-ATING WITH OTHERS (V. 1-3)

Christian fellowship is a foretaste of heaven. Brothers and sisters in Christ enjoy the presence of one another. When Christian people work together in love and fellowship a spirit of unity arises. These people are sure to make progress in the kingdom's work.

It is a sad thing when Christian people fall out of fellowship.
The world is looking on. After a while non-Christian people begin to ask: "Who won the last battle down at that church?" The cause of Christ suffers when Christians act in an unchristian-like manner.

The workers in the church at Philippi, both male and female, worked together in a fine spirit of cooperation and love. In heaven there shall be no broken fellowship. Christian people should get ready for heaven by practic-

THE WINDOW
There is a store that is displaying this scene of Christ's birth in all its beautiful simplicity.

People walk by the window and stop and look—and when they go on again the tired lines seem to be erased from their faces. For the moment, they have forgotten the "hustle and bustle" of holiday preparations. Instead, the peace of Christmas drifts over them like the softly falling snow.

Look at those beautifully carved figures and at that tiny babe. Makes you realize, doesn't it, that Christmas after all, is the birth day of our Lord, and should be celebrated first of all where most birthdays are celebrated—at home.
In this case, that means the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values.
Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his children and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and matterial support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ment. He said: "I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content."
What is your station in life?
Are you content? What situation is staring you in the face right now? Are you content to be in that situation? Put it this way: Are you a Christian? If you are, you have all the resources of heaven at your command with which to help you to be content in your present status.

CONCLUSION — To be a Christian is the greatest privilege that can come to any human being in this life. It is the only life that offers real joy under any circumstances. If we absolutely knew that there would be no hereafter, we would know that still the best life on earth is the Christian life.
It is the life of real joy. However, we do know that there is a hereafter. That makes the Christian life all the more important. "If you want joy, real joy, wonderful joy; let Jesus come into your heart!"

12th Annual Equality Holiday Tournament To Begin Wednesday

Pairings for 4-School Meet Will Be By Blind Draw

The 12th annual Equality Holiday Invitational basketball tournament will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, with the first game listed for 7 p. m., Tuesday, Dec. 17.

During the first ten years of the tourney it was an eight-team affair, but last year the entry list was reduced to four and pairings were determined by the "blind draw" system. This year's meet will follow the 1956 pattern.

Three Gallatin county schools—Ridgway, Shawneetown, host Equality—and Cave-in-Rock from neighboring Hardin county are again the participants. Representatives from the four high schools will meet in the gymnasium at 6 p. m. Tuesday to draw for pairings and game times.

Equality Principal and Coach Anthony Franc has announced the schools drawing numbers one and four will play the nightcap Tuesday and teams drawing numbers two and three will meet in the curtain raiser.

Galatia won the first Equality Invitational championship, beating out Ridgway for the title in 1946. The following year Carrier Mills took home the first place trophy. Galatia came back in 1948 and in 1949 Carrier Mills won its second crown. That was the last time either Galatia or Carrier Mills participated.

In 1950 Crab Orchard took the championship, then came titles for Thompsonville in both 1951 and 1952. Royalton won top honors in 1953 and the great Shawneetown teams of 1954 and 1955 took honors two consecutive years.

Last year Ridgway won a thriller from host Equality in the championship game. This marked the fourth time Equality, never a title holder in its own meet, had taken the second place trophy.

Game times each evening are 7 and 8:30, admission will be 75 and 50 cents per session. Officials will be William James of Galatia and Dick Henley of Carterville.

Special entertainment will be offered at each halftime. Franc has announced.

Ridgway Defeats Equality, 60-48; Galatia Trips Rosiclare, 69-47

Ridgway continues to lead the Greater Equality conference race with a 6-0 record following Friday night's action. The league leading Eagles ran to a 60-48 decision over Equality last night before a big homecoming crowd.

In the other conference tilt Galatia won with surprising ease over a favored Rosiclare team, 69-47. This kept Galatia in the thick of the title chase with a 3-1 record and dropped Rosiclare to 4-2 in GEC play.

Ridgway won from Equality through superior rebounding, but the smaller Equality team battled all the way and kept the huge crowd in a tizzy most of the game.

The biggest man in the game, Ridgway's 6-10 1-2 Roger Suttner and one of the smaller players, 5-9 Terry Glover of Equality, waged a terrific battle for honors and came out just about even.

Glover, playing a sensational floor game and driving hard coped scoring honors with 22 points. Suttner had 19, was strong on defense and particularly effective on the boards.

Ridgway pulled the iron-man stunt, the starting five going all the way and presenting a well-balanced attack, three getting into double figures. Following Suttner was Clifford with 16 and Sanders had 10. Crawford's 9 and Ambrous with 6 completed the winners' scoring.

Harlin Barnett was second high for Equality with 11 points. Equality got away to a quick 6 point lead on two baskets by Glover and one by Barnett and there was only 3:20 to play in the quarter before Ridgway cracked the scoring column on Suttner's free toss. At the end of the period Equality led 9-8.

The teams battled or even terms in the second frame and with 1:20 to go the score was knotted 23-23, then Suttner's free throw and A. Ambrous' third basket of the quarter put Ridgway on top 26-23 at halftime.

Midway in this hectic quarter play was stopped while a little boy toddled the full length of the floor. The little guy was right in the middle of some fast floor play—but didn't realize it—when the officials called time. Unaware of anything unusual, the youngster continued across the floor while the crowd howled with glee.

Locals Lose Third Straight Game; Play Johnston City Tonight

The Herrin Tigers, rated the state's best prep basketball team, came to town last night and went home with a 72-46 victory.

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, who lost their third straight contest when they bowed to the champs, tonight will attempt to get back into the win column when they face the Johnston City Indians in Daventport gym.

Herrin was a smooth outfit. The boys who won the state meet last year were back without Tidwell and Jefferson and put on a good performance.

The Tigers do not look like an overpowering bunch of boys, because outside of sophomore center Gene Turni, who is 6-5, Coach Bob Hutchinson's outfit is of average height.

But the team was aggressive, had excellent ball handlers, made few mistakes, and played a top brand of defense. It hustled all the time, kept right in their pitching.

Richard Box, a slender Herrin lad, showed the crowd the shot he used to keep Herrin in the game against Collinsville in the state finals last March. He plunked in six buckets with his favorite toss.

Willie Williams, the little guard with the long arms and big hands, also showed the fans why he was one of the top players in the state tournament with his excellent floor play and timing.

Two of Coach John Dotson's seniors came through best for him last night. Ray Hassett played an aggressive game and came up with 15 points, tops for Harrisburg and only a point below Box's high 16. Kinch Jones was having success with his two-hander from out and he sent seven field goals through the netting for 14 points.

The score was tied 4-4 after three minutes of play but Herrin, shooting .500, ran up a 19-7 lead at the quarter and 38-22 at halftime.

It was the third quarter, however, that spelled disaster for the locals. The Bull Dogs were able to score but six points while Herrin was making 20.

In the last quarter both coaches substituted freely.

Local fans got some consolation out of the evening when the Bull Pups won the preliminary from Herrin, 58-54. The game seemed in the bag for Harrisburg when Herrin started a last-quarter press that tightened up things immensely.

Harrisburg led 17-10 at the quarter, 35-28 at the half and 46-34 at the end of the third period. Jerry Kane was high for the locals with 18 points, followed by J. B. Henshaw with 13, Jim Lamb with 11, Charles Banks with 10, Dale Robinson with 6 and Steve Frantz with 1. Roger Aldridge, Larry Baldwin and Hamilton also saw action.

Karras to Wrestle

GARY, Ind. (AP)—Alex Karras, Iowa's All-America tackle, signed a $25,000 wrestling contract and said today he hopes to sign a pro football contract next week. The one-year contract with Promotions, Inc., Des Moines, permits Karras to take off six months for pro football. Karras said he'll sign with either the Detroit Lions or Winnipeg of the Canadian League — whichever "gives me the most money."
